(54) CREDIT CARD SYSTEM AND METHOD FOR ISSUING CREDIT CARD BY USING THE SAME

(57)Abstract:

PURPOSE: To issue the credit card instantaneously at a store, to prevent the card from illegally being issued or used, and to enable high-safety credit sales by comparing a check code which is generated by a means for generating the check code with a check code which is entered into the card.

CONSTITUTION: When a clerk in charge inputs the identification number of a customer on a keyboard 11, a processor 10 calculates the check code from the identification number of the card and the identification number of the customer and outputs a request to input the check code to a display device 13. When the clerk in charge inputs the informed check code on the keyboard 11, the processor 10 compares the value of this check code with the value of the check code that the processor calculates by itself, requests a password number of the customer to be inputted when both the values match each other, and allows the card to be issued when the password number is inputted. When the values of the check codes do not match each other, the processor 10 makes a display rejecting the issue of the card on a display device 13.
